The William A. Starr Freshman Course Lecture featured Tobias Wolff. Wolff's program took place on Thursday, Sept 11 at 5 pm in the Villard Room. The lecture was presented through the Auspices of the Office of the Dean of Faculty. Wolff, whose talk dealt with the process of writing and how he transforms his own experience into fiction, has written numerous works, one of the most reknown being a memoir of his childhood called, "This Boy's Life." Rachel Kitzinger of the Classics department, who participated in organizing the lecture, characterized Wolff as "a really compelling writer."—A.D.K.
